

We don't just train you to be a better writer. We train you to achieve greater results.

Writing for Results is a breakthrough workshop.

In a few short hours, your communication will become clearer, crisper and more effective. Not just your written communication, but verbal too. So you'll achieve the results you want more often, and the breakthroughs you have will stay with you forever.

A new approach.

Writing for Results is different from other communication training.

Where other courses bombard you with tips and techniques, Writing for Results is really very simple. We take you through a series of exercises where you discover for yourself what works and doesn't work about how you currently write. Then we give you a couple of tools to turn you into a powerful editor of your own writing.

That leaves you in charge. Rather than having to remember a bunch of "rules", the experience is more like when you learned to ride a bike. Once you had balance, somehow it just stayed with you. Writing for Results is like that too.

If you find writing difficult or slow, you'll get to the heart of why that is - and begin completing writing tasks in as little as half the time.

If you struggle to express your thoughts as clearly or powerfully as you'd like, you'll have a breakthrough in that area.

Five major benefits.

1. You'll save hours of writing time every week.
2. You'll think faster, even when the subject is complex.
3. You'll write and speak clearly and directly.
4. People will want to read and hear what you have to say.
5. You'll produce the results that you want more often.

Testimonials

I'm successfully using your course as a critical "weapon" to help us win new business through clear, succinct and compelling proposals. I have to put a good portion of that growth down to the skills you taught and that I have instilled in my team.

Cam Murchison, Managing Partner, Harvey Cameron

Your writing training has made a visible and important difference to our Audit Team. We came to you wanting to reduce the time it took to write our reports, while also improving quality and clarity. We've achieved both in a surprisingly short time, and to an even greater extent than I had hoped for.

The benefits include greater productivity, improved staff morale, and - most importantly - the clarity needed for our Executive Team to make important decisions with confidence.

Rob Marshall, Head of Risk and Assurance, Spark New Zealand

Other participants in our training courses have come from

Spark, Fletcher Construction, Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Trade, Grant Thornton, FCB, Barfoot & Thompson, Auckland District Health Board, Ministry for Primary Industries (MPI).
